

When Women Gather

Words and Music by Jeanne Loehnis

Hauntingly (♩ = c. 138)

The musical score is written in treble clef with a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and a 3/4 time signature. The tempo is marked as 'Hauntingly' with a quarter note equal to approximately 138 beats per minute. The score consists of ten staves of music, each with a corresponding line of lyrics. Chord symbols are placed above the notes. The lyrics are: 'Each has come, aware of depth, that they all have jour-neyed to this point own. When wom-en gath - er, far a - way from life's un - ceas - ing tasks... in time each slows from hec-tic pace and dares re - move the mask. Gen - tly first, just dab-bl-ing with this free - dom all so need;'. The score is divided into two verses: Verse 1 (staves 1-6) and Verse 2 (staves 7-10).

(*) Each verse of this piece has two segments of 18 measures. The last two measures are intended as a transition between two distinct styles for each verse. The first 16 measures of the verse are in a light and flowing style which on a guitar can be gentle finger picking or on a keyboard with eighth notes filling in the harmonies for the measure.

The second 16 measures of the verse are dark and haunting. This can be achieved by striking each chord only once and letting it ring for the two measures. Measures 17 and 18 in each verse can shift to the "other" style as a lead in to the next segment.
